

Treaty Education For All – Self Reflection

“As long as the sun shines, grass grows and waters flow”

Write a key takeaway that impacted you professionally

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Write a key takeaway that impacted you personally

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How does my own Treaty story meet the story of these lands, and what responsibilities emerge when I listen closely?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

In my role, how can I move beyond awareness toward actions that honour Treaty relationships in the everyday work I carry out?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Red – Write something you need to learn more about

Yellow – Write something you learned today

Green – Write something you already knew before today’s training

Red writing area

Yellow writing area

Green writing area

“Minik igo giizis bimosed, minik gegoo ji-nitaawigik, minik nibi ge-bimijiwang” As long as the sun shines, grass grows and the waters flow.
Elder Wayne Scott, Swan Lake Frist Nation, Treaty 1 (TRCM Oral History Project V1. pg. 27)

